

PC Builder – Privacy Policy

Effective date: December 26th, 2023

Privacy Policy aims to help you understand what data we collect, for what purpose we use it and how you can exercise your rights.

Our Principles & Views

PC Builder web application adheres to the following principles in order to protect your privacy:

- We do not collect more information than necessary,
- We do not use your data for purposes other than those specified,
- We do not store your data if they are no longer needed,
- We never sell, lend or publicly publish your personal data,
- We do not send your data to third parties,
- We do not use automated processing or profiling of your data,
- We do not track visits to our website,
- We do not transfer your personal data to a third country or international organization,
- We do not use your data for purposes other than those specified,
- We make sure that your data is stored securely.

What data we collect?

We collect only data provided by the user. This includes data provided by the user during profile registration – username and email. Password is securely encrypted and stored in Google Firebase database, which itself is part of Google LLC, and Google's terms and conditions. Password is encrypted and hashed using SHA-256 hashing protocol, which means, no one can see, read or decrypt password (this includes developers and database maintenance specialists).

Cookies

Our application does not collect third-party cookies or any of your personal data. Cookies are used for advanced user experience and display settings. You can prohibit the use of cookies at any time.

Your Rights

You have the right to access, correct, delete, restrict and transfer data and right to object to processing listed data.

Official supervisory body – European Union

The European Data Protection Board (EDPB) is an independent European body. It is the umbrella organisation which brings together the national data protection authorities (National Supervisory Authorities) of the countries in the European Economic Area, as well as the European Data Protection Supervisor (EDPS). The EDPB ensures that the General Data Protection Regulation and the Law Enforcement Directive are applied consistently and ensures cooperation, including on enforcement.

Official supervisory body – Republic of Croatia
